The 1994
Alliance for Cultural Democracy
Membership Directory

Welp here it is, the long overdue 1994 ACD Membership directory.

To continue to be in the directory you must pay your annual membership fee. I know that often an extra $25 a year can seem like a lot, but it is all that currently keeps this collective going. We have received no grants for this publication. We know from members feedback, your thanks and continued support, that the struggle for cultural democracy is alive and well. We have not been disappeared! Interest continues to grow in community/neighborhood arts activism, animation and the role of the arts in building community while creating a safe stable environment, where people can dream, grow and learn. Over the past 20 years ACD members have contributed to a national dialogue on cultural policy, and we have seen some changes. Cultural workers continue to weave together communities, and help give them voices. We all know what a struggle this can be, whether we are dealing with city hall, internal conflicts or attacks from the outside. Perhaps most importantly we infuse our work with issues of conscience and inspiration.

This directory is dedicated to you, the members of ACD, who keep this work alive. This directory is a resource of/for cultural workers and animators who often find themselves isolated and/or marginalized in some way. We need each other... Let's keep building this network, and watch it continue to grow.

Respectfully

Michael Schwartz

Exhibits USA, a national division of Mid America Arts Alliance, was created to meet the growing demand from small and mid-sized museums, university galleries, and community art centers located throughout the country for museum quality exhibitions. Our mission is to distribute and promote high quality visual arts and humanities programs of local to international significance; provide the arts and humanities experiences among the broadest spectrum of the population; and nurture the development and understanding of various art forms. We maintain a professional staff of permanent and contractual curators, registrars, educators, conservators, preparators, exhibit designers, photographers, graphic designers, and fine art shippers.
